Luxembourg to promote health technologies firms to establish base in Luxembourg The Minister for Economic Affairs and Commerce today, in an interview with the biggest newspaper in town (1), announced that he plans to make 2007 for Luxembourg the year of health technologies. The plan is to promote Luxembourg as a place for health technologies firms to consider when deciding on a site for their European activities. According to statements made, infrastructures will be made available in a special zone in the southern part of the country. Luxembourg has also pledged to further extend its modern logistics platform in place today.
